

Charles Rennie Mackintosh - Hill House Chair 1902

I Maestri by Cassina

details

Cassina edition of the legendary Hill House chair, designed 1902 by Charles Rennie Mackintosh Ladderback chair, ashwood frame stained black. Seat upholstered in a special lavender fabric.

The Hill House chair combines figurative and symbolic ideals with a linear geometry, no doubt inspired by the abstract graphics of Japanese design. It is more than a mere chair in that it illustrates Mackintosh's articulation of space with its high back and rows of horizontal bars, topped with a grid: with slats and straight poles crossed together to create a resistant frame.
